LTC [redacted] (b)(6), (b)(7)(c) informed PTT that there is no involvement on the part of Major Crimes at all. He advised that they are investigated solely by the police in that sector; the traffic police are not involved. This reinforces PTT findings that the Traffic Police are tasked with only the most basic traffic related functions, regarding traffic direction, operations, regulation and enforcement. Accident scene investigation is not seen at this time as an area of responsibility of the traffic police or apparently as a specialized area of investigation for the regular police. Creating a specialized Traffic Accident Investigation Unit within the traffic police would allow the regular police to focus their efforts elsewhere, and result in the increased accuracy and effectiveness of traffic investigations. However, this would require approval of reassigning mission responsibilities through provincial headquarters.

The PTT informed the station training officer that due to current PTT commitments, training provided by the PTT will not be able to commence until mid September 2007. The PTT advised the station training officer that SWAT personnel should be conducting simulated tactical entries on the various building at Erbil International Airport as part of the training program devised by the PTT.
