The PTT was told that during a recent meeting with the Ideal Innovations representatives, IPA (name withheld), and PJCC command staff, that when asked if the PTT member (name withheld) was going to be involved in the meeting that they were told that the system didn't concern the PTT and that the PTT wasn't involved in it. The PTT advised the PJCC staff that the Team would go through the proper channels and ascertain whether or not this was in fact a joint effort between CPATT and Ideal Innovations and, if so, find out if the PTT members involved with the PJCC on a daily basis, as well as the other locations where the databases would be installed, could get involved in the classes so that everyone doing training in Kurdistan would be on the same level of understanding.

(b)(6), (b)(7)c

(MI0006) Ashty Local Police Station: (TRA Level 3) PTT visited the Ashty Local Police Station located in Irbil City. The station is co-located with Asaish Police Station. The major shortcoming noted is that even though the station is located just across the street from one of the Irbil City electrical power stations, there is no power to the station. PTT met with the station commander LT [redacted] who advised that he has four investigators and twenty policemen. He related that five policemen were recently transferred to other stations and four were selected to attend a training police course in Jordan. He is responsible for a large metropolitan area of the district and has one truck that was issued by the CF. He stated that the truck is not functional in many of the streets in the area due to it large size which required the police to stop and travel on foot to many areas, and must leave police to protect the truck from harm. He requested PTT provide weapons training for the police including live fire, arrest and vehicle stops and search procedures of persons, residence and vehicles. He stated that all of his investigators are new and need training. He also feels that the pay for the police is inadequate. Many of the policemen are attempting to obtain positions with the Customs and Border Police who also work in his area and are paid a higher rate by the National Minster of Interior Office and that the disparity in pay should be corrected as soon as possible to prevent the extreme turnover his station is experiencing. (MI0035) Irbil Traffic Police General Directorate (TRA Level 3) PTT met with a traffic policeman assigned to Ankawa. PTT spoke with the policeman about their various duties as they pertain to issuing citations. The policeman advised PTT that most of the traffic policemen could not read or write, therefore, they were not issued citation books. The next issue the traffic policeman raised was the fact that the traffic policemen are allowed to immediately take payment for any violations they do write citations for. PTT feels this is also a potential problem for the policemen, especially due to the fact that they are very unhappy with their salary. PTT feels that this process would tempt the policemen to embezzle money from the fines. PTT also learned that the persons who are issued citations do not actually have a court date. The fines are logged on paper and then paid once the person comes back in to renew their registration. This process happens once every four years. PTT feels that a court date should be made expeditiously, and the fines collected much sooner.

(b)(6), (b)(3), (b)(6)
