IPs attempted to serve court papers to an individual in the IA, stationed at Camp Victory. IPs are not allowed on base without an escort, so IPLO's went with the IP but could not gain entrance because the IP's airport badge is expired (almost all of them are expired). US Army advised that if the IP had a passport, a temporary pass can be obtained.

(BC0005) Al Adhamiya District Police HQ: The Station had 3 officers and 60 IPs assigned to the current shift; no AWOLs. Joint patrols were conducted with 2 IP patrol vehicles and 10 IPs. Mercury Development Company is charged with this building project. The Team met with the newly appointed (by Karrada HQ) deputy station commander, Captain [redacted]. The Team does get along with Captain [redacted], however, he does not possess the leadership and administrative qualities to assume this position. This visit demonstrated his lack of leadership as the office scene was chaotic and reminiscent of a hospital emergency room full of trauma patients with no doctor on hand to stop the bleeding. (b)(6), (b)(7)C

The chaos stopped when a man entered the room who was later identified as General [redacted] from MOI Internal Affairs. A situation occurred in the office that is detailed in the DSR and turned over to IPLO Special Units, Major Crimes at Camp Shield for review. (b)(6), (b)(7)C

It was stressed that they need to participate in the station training program and it was their responsibility to carry out the training effort. The Team made it clear they will train and mentor with their trainers. Further efforts to get the training on track will occur on future visits. Joint patrol was done with two squads, with 10 IPs. During the patrol, IPs were observed removing 2 diesel generator oil filters from a location and take them back to the station. The situation was reported to the Commander; it was learned that the IPs had taken the items for the station generator without permission from the owner. Station commander will discipline IPs involved. The station has 13 vehicles assigned to them, 6 are operational, 7 need repairs. A local contractor is being sought to perform routine maintenance on the diesel generator.

CPATT team members [redacted] and [redacted] are currently traveling with Australian Bravo Company as OP Don #6 has commenced. The focus and emphasis of their planned meetings will be a continuing assessment of the threat level specific militias such as JAM is posing to specific communities. CPATT team members will serve as consultants and advisers to key law enforcement personnel in order to advance specific strategies designed to impede and deter JAM affiliates.

JAM members in Al Khidr have stepped up their visible presence and influence within the city by disseminating posters and flyers that further depicts a certain political persuasion or ideology. JAM members have also started using alternative lines of communication between their members with the use of the internet. The importance of identifying and discussing ongoing militia activity occurring throughout the Al Muthanna Province will assist greatly in preparation of the upcoming meeting with Al Khidr's Mayor, his staff, and with Al Khidr's Police Chief, which is scheduled to occur in the next couple of days. One positive note includes that the IPS in Al Khidr in spite of depressed conditions are reporting to duty and high morale continues to increase due to new leadership that is in place at the police department.

CPATT team members met today with their Australian counterparts in preparation of OP Don #7. For each planned mission CPATT team members are attempting to prioritize each interview by matter of importance in order to provide a broader perspective and in-depth assessment of the Al Muthanna Province with respect to standing up of a sovereign region in Iraq.
